

Local Vector Search Notes

An embedding turns a passage into a vector so similar passages sit near each other.

A persistent local index keeps those vectors on disk between runs.

Deterministic chunk identifiers let a relational store and a vector store be reconciled.

A hash embedder is enough for offline tests because it needs no network.

The remote embedder speaks the OpenAI-compatible embeddings endpoint.

Coverage-first selection walks every chunk before repeating any chunk.